

This is a full time, fixed term position to December 2024 ($136,928 - $150,462 + 17% superannuation) based at JCU Townsville

As part of JCU's Academic Plan 2018-2022, a priority project to explore digital innovations and integrations for an enhanced student experience, and to establish student-centred, dynamic and engaging learning experiences for diverse students in virtual learning environments has commenced. With a distinct focus on creating a digital learning future, the project will enable the University to meet our objective of making a difference to learning and life in the Tropics.

What you can accomplish in the role

Play a key strategic role in digital learning by leading the design, implementation, training and ongoing refinement of JCU's approach to digital and blended learning and technology integration. Leading a team of dedicated digital transformation academics and professionals whilst building relationships with both internal and external stakeholders, partners and vendors, you will optimise opportunities to leverage innovation.

Through the alignment of operations, strategy, policies and procedures, you will model a scholarly approach to learning and teaching whilst actively engaging with grant opportunities.

What you will bring to the role

Your experience in strategic development, management and operation of digital learning coupled with doctoral qualifications and research experience will be imperative to your success. With an ability to develop beneficial relationships and a demonstrated record of excellence and achievement as a teaching practitioner and scholar, and manager, you will make a tangible difference to this integral area of our University both now and into the future.

Why JCU
